LISTENING TO OUR PASSENGERS

At VRE, we are committed to improving the commuting experience for all of our passengers. Customer service is extremely important to us and we value all suggestions and feedback we receive.

DOUG ALLEN
Chief Executive Officer

It has been great to meet and connect with so many of you at this spring's Meet the Management events. Recently, we initiated our annual passenger survey and are currently compiling all the responses, which will be posted to www.vre.org when complete. This survey helps us determine what is most important to you and allows us to make operational changes and sound investments based on your feedback.

As part of our commitment to customer service, we are upgrading our technology to provide better tools and communication options for our passengers. We just introduced VRE Mobile, VRE's new mobile ticketing app adding a new convenient option to buy, store, validate and use tickets from your smartphone, plus you can use your SmartBenefitsSM to pay for VRE fares once you have allocated them to VRE.

While passengers will still have the option of paper tickets, we are proud that VRE is the first transit system in the D.C. area to offer passengers a mobile app for purchasing tickets. VRE Mobile is available for free from the iTunes App Store and Google Play. Learn more about VRE Mobile on page 3 and the back cover of this month's RIDE and at www.vre.org/mobile.

Additionally, later this summer we will be launching a completely redesigned www.vre.org website that will create a user-friendly portal to access VRE information and alerts quickly on your computer, tablet and smartphone.

We appreciate your feedback and thank you for riding on VRE.

2015 SMITHSONIAN FOLKLIFE FESTIVAL

The New York Times named Peru one of the top travel destinations for 2015. But if you don’t have the time or the money to visit, the 2015 Smithsonian Folklife Festival will bring the music, culture and cuisine of Peru to you.

Held every summer on the National Mall, the Folklife Festival is a celebration of living cultures, bringing master artisans, musicians, dancers, cooks, storytellers and more from across the United States and around the world to share their experiences in their own voices. The 2015 Festival program, “Perú: Pachamama,” will feature more than 150 participants, highlighting the diversity of Peruvian and Peruvian-American communities. Visitors can see a 600-year-old Inka tradition in action as craftsmen braid and build a 65-foot rope bridge, taste authentic Peruvian pollo a la brasa (roast chicken) and chicha morada (purple corn punch), and learn phrases in the native Quechua language. While children can try silk-screening brightly colored chicha posters, grownups can try pisco, a grape brandy and the national drink of Peru.

The 2015 Smithsonian Folklife Festival runs June 24 to 28 and July 1 to 5 on the National Mall, in and around the National Museum of the American Indian between Third and Fourth streets. The Festival is free and open to the public 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. with evening concerts most nights at 7 p.m. Visit www.festival.si.edu for detailed schedule and more information.

INTRODUCING VRE MOBILE

VRE IS THE FIRST TRANSIT SYSTEM IN THE GREATER WASHINGTON AREA TO OFFER PASSENGERS A MOBILE APP FOR PAYING THEIR FARES

VRE has made riding the commuter rail system easier with the introduction of VRE Mobile, its new mobile ticketing app. VRE is the first transit system in the greater Washington area to offer passengers a mobile app for paying their fares. The app, powered by GlobeSherpa, lets passengers easily and conveniently buy and use tickets and passes on their smartphone and is available for free through the iTunes App Store and Google Play. Paper tickets will still be available as an option.

The new VRE Mobile app will allow passengers to:

- Purchase, store use and validate Single-Ride, Day Pass, Five-Day, Ten-Trip and Monthly Passes right from the smartphone, removing the need to keep track of paper tickets
- Use SmartBenefitsSM to purchase tickets and passes
- Use disability, senior and youth fares within the app
- Use multiple tickets for multiple riders from a single smartphone
- Split payment between two credit cards, or a credit card and SmartBenefitsSM account
- Create an account and store information for future purchases, manage account information and purchase tickets that appear instantly on the phone through www.vre.org/mobile

- Eliminates the need to stop at a VRE vendor location or a VRE ticket vending machine
- Purchase Amtrak Step-Up tickets for use with multi-ride VRE tickets on select Amtrak trains

VRE partnered with GlobeSherpa to create a mobile ticketing app that's innovative and simple to use. With GlobeSherpa's proven mobile ticketing system, VRE is delivering industry-leading innovation to its passengers and making passengers happier by allowing them to purchase and validate VRE fares on their smartphones.

To learn more about VRE Mobile, please visit www.vre.org/mobile.

COMING SOON: SPOTSYLVANIA STATION

Work is quickly progressing on the new end-of-the-line station in Spotsylvania County located off of U.S. Route 17 on Crossroads Parkway, about 5 miles south of downtown Fredericksburg. Spotsylvania will be the first extension of VRE service since VRE launched in 1992.

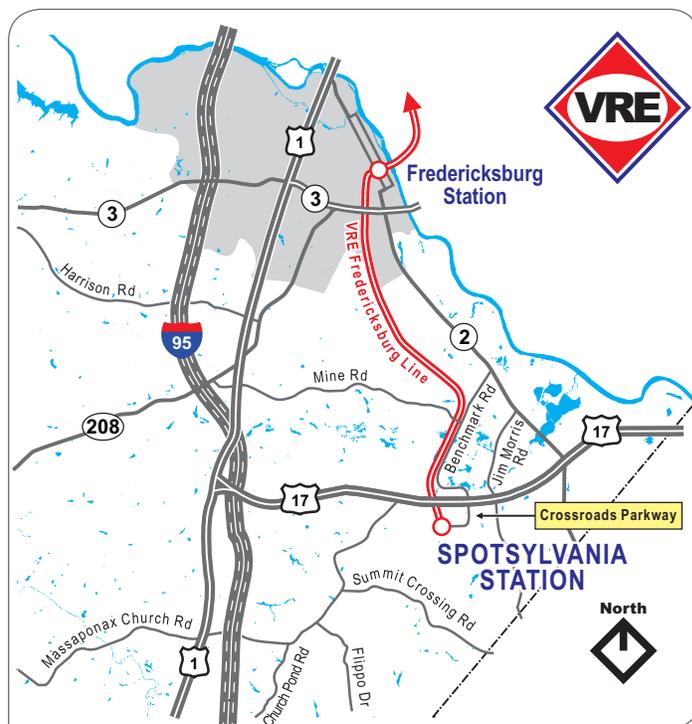

Construction is coming along with lampposts installed and steel structural elements built for shelters and canopies. New track has been laid alongside the station platform as part of the third track project. Work is also proceeding on grading and drainage for the adjacent 1,500-space parking lot by Spotsylvania County's contractor.

The new station will open as soon as VRE and Spotsylvania County work is complete, which is anticipated to be later this summer.

The Spotsylvania Station should ease congestion at the Fredericksburg Station. Also to provide more capacity on the Fredericksburg Line, an additional morning and evening train will be added.

For the new Spotsylvania Station, the fare will be the same as the Fredericksburg Station (Zone 9). See the new fare charts on page 5 of this month's RIDE or go to www.vre.org/fares for more information.

CELEBRATING HEROES: 2015 WORLD POLICE & FIRE GAMES

Join VRE and Keolis in welcoming 12,000 heroes from public safety departments around the world to the 2015 World Police & Fire Games, which begins later this month. Cheer on the heroes of our communities as they compete in more than 60 sports in hopes of earning a medal. The Games are hosted by Fairfax County and will be held throughout Northern Virginia and the Washington area from June 26 to July 5.

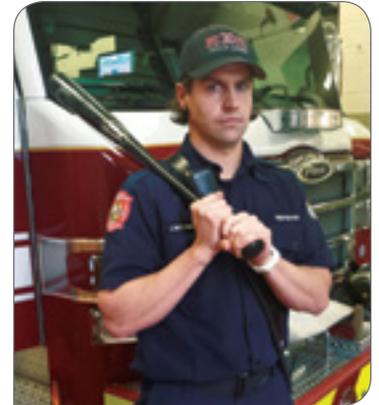

The Games are one of the largest multi-sport, multi-venue events in the world and is expected to draw more than 12,000 athletes from more than 70 countries — more athletes than the Summer Olympics. The event includes traditional Olympic-style competitions as well as events related to the job performance of public safety personnel.

At VRE and Keolis, we strive to ensure the safety and security of our passengers, employees and surrounding community. For the Games' athletes, public safety is not only their duty, it's their calling. These men and women make admirable sacrifices and work incredibly hard to keep us safe every day.

The Games are a vehicle for our community to meet the brave among us. Josh Morrison hails from a family of firefighters — including his father, uncles and cousins.

For the past six years, the husband and father of two has served his hometown as an EMT/firefighter at Fire Station #30 in Fairfax County, the same station his father opened two decades ago. For the Games, Morrison will play pitcher and fielder for the Fairfax Stars.

Learn more about the Games plus schedules and ticket information at www.Fairfax2015.com. Additionally, Keolis is a proud supporter of the Games, go to www.keolisnorthamerica.com to see more hero stories. Before and during the Games, use #IHeartHeroes on Twitter, Facebook and Instagram to recognize a hero that you know or tell us a story highlighting the good that a public safety team has done in your community.

NEW FARES ON VRE BEGIN JULY 1

FARE INCREASE

The VRE Operations Board has approved a 4 percent across-the-board fare increase to cover growing operational costs starting July 1, 2015 as part of VRE's FY 2016 budget.

While VRE is doing everything it can to control costs, there are external factors that have contributed to the need for a fare increase. VRE faces contractual cost increases based on either fixed escalation rates or Consumer Price Index adjustments.

Positive Train Control, which is a new Federal Railroad Administration requirement, has been budgeted at $775,000 per year in operating costs; a new expense for FY 2016. The local jurisdictions that provide financial support to VRE have their own budget constraints, so the subsidy remained at $16.4 million. To help close the gap, the 4 percent fare increase is needed to generate an additional $900,000.

STEP-UP INCREASE

Amtrak Step-Up tickets will increase from $3 to $5. As part of the I-95 High Occupancy Toll (HOT) Lanes Project Transportation Management Plan, VRE began receiving state funding to offset $2 of each Step-Up ticket used by a VRE customer to ride one of the designated Amtrak trains to help alleviate congestion on I-95 during construction. The I-95 HOT Lanes project is complete and the funding for this subsidy ended in December 2014. VRE budgeted sufficient funds to cover the $2 buy down through the end of the FY 2015 budget year, allowing the cost to the customer to remain at $3, but has not done so in the FY 2016 budget.

ADVOCATING FOR COMMUTER BENEFITS

We appreciate all the comments received at our fare increase public hearings and written comments sent to us. For that reason, VRE is actively engaged in pursuing commuter benefits parity and believes that public transportation users should have the same level of tax benefits as those who receive parking allowances.

MAKING RAIL SAFETY A PRIORITY

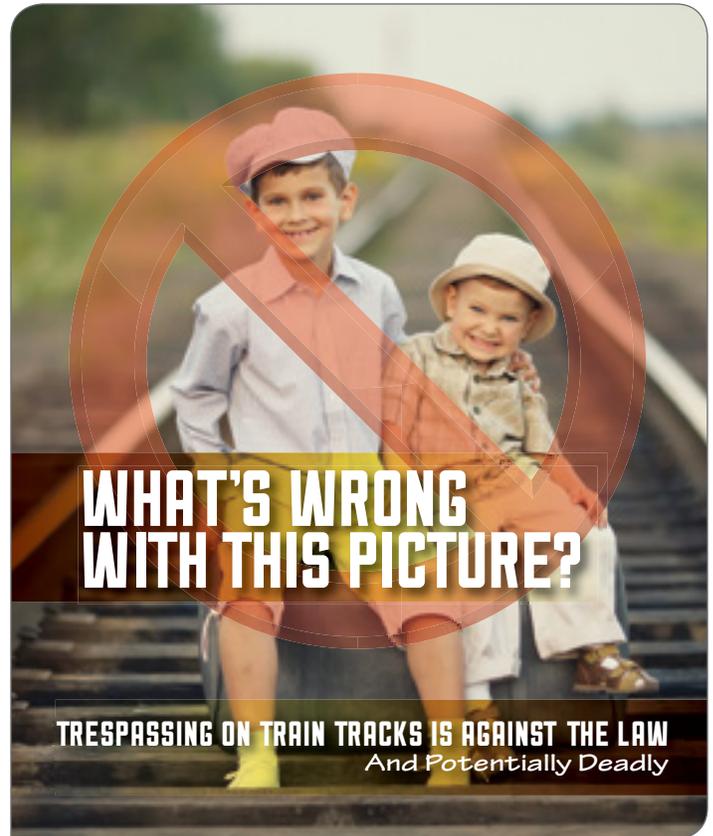

Spring and early summer are beautiful seasons in Northern Virginia. The grass and trees change from brown to green and the sky brightens from gun-metal gray to vibrant blue. Graduation ceremonies, outdoor weddings, engagements parties and milestone birthdays drive many Northern Virginia families to the doorsteps of the region's professional photographers in order to commemorate these events.

Safety and security is of the highest importance to VRE. As many of you, your friends, family or colleagues consider outdoor photo shoots during the upcoming months, VRE would like to offer an emphatic reminder to avoid the railroad tracks as a backdrop for any photography. The consequences risked to get these types of shots can be devastating to everyone involved. Fatalities are rising nationally from those who assumed incorrectly that train schedules are predictable, trains can be heard well in-advance or that they can safely exit the track area before a train arrives.

At the very minimum, this risk exposes one to charges of criminal trespass and at the maximum, one's life or the lives of family, friends or even the photographer. A frightening reminder of how devastating an incident involving the use of railroads as backdrops occurred just last year in Georgia.

A filmmaker brought his team onto the tracks without the railroad's permission to film some quick scenes for a biographical film about Gregg Allman. A freight train came through and killed a member of his team and injured several others. The filmmaker is now serving prison time for involuntary manslaughter.

For more information on this topic and how you can schedule a rail safety presentation at your child's school or at a community event, visit Operation Lifesaver Inc. (OLI) at www.oli.org. OLI is a national non-profit rail safety organization committed to reversing the trends of unnecessary trespass fatalities and grade crossing incidents through education.

Please share this article with your friends and family and help VRE communicate the message that tracks are for trains and to respect them as off limits.

SIMPLE SUMMER SAFETY TIPS:

1 Hydration – Hydration is critically important to not only feeling your best, but preventing heat stroke and exhaustion. Take whatever steps are necessary to keep yourself drinking water throughout your day. You may just find yourself having more energy, you may experience fewer headaches and the increased visits to the restroom will get you away from your desk for a much needed leg stretch and relief for your eyes.

2 Ticks – Northern Virginia is infested with ticks. Ticks get on you by climbing to the top of long grass and brush and latch on as you walk by. To do your part in minimizing the risks of the diseases carried by ticks, minimize their likely presence. Mow your lawn frequently, keep your animals out of meadows, keep an eye on sock lines, legs and ankles after hikes. If you spot a tick, remove it promptly.

3 Sun Exposure – Melanoma, basal cell carcinoma and other skin cancers are serious. There have been increases in the number of diagnoses so make sure you wear a hat, sunscreen and sunglasses when you are outside.

SPOTLIGHT ON KEOLIS

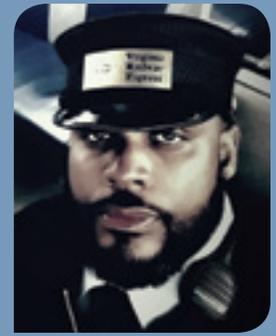

MEET CHRIS CHANDLER

Chris Chandler is a man of the railroad, in all aspects. Whether he is greeting passengers boarding the train or managing the tracks, he comes to work every day with the goal of meeting and exceeding expectations as well as ensuring that customers are always satisfied and safe.

“I love mingling with people and serving customers. This is why I chose to work in the customer service and railroad industry.”

Born and raised in Arlington, Chris learned to adapt to the real world very quickly after his mother’s passing at a young age. Since then, he practices the values his mother taught him providing the passion and drive to create a comfortable life for him and his family. Chris served in the Marine Corps, started his own business and has worked as a truck driver. Seeking a more stable occupation and wanting to spend more time with his family, Chris began his work on the railroad.

“I love mingling with people and serving customers,” he said. “This is why I chose to work in the customer service and railroad industry.”

Chris started his railroad career at Norfolk Southern Railway, and found out from a fellow co-worker about an opportunity to work for Keolis and VRE and made his move to VRE as a conductor.

With the passion and stamina that Chris puts into his work, he has recently moved his way up to be qualified for the engineer training program. After 10 months of classes, he will be eligible to operate the locomotives as well as serve as a conductor.

“I am very excited for this opportunity, because I get the best of both worlds,” he said. “There will definitely never be a dull moment in my day.”

“As a member of a small and close team, we constantly push each other’s limits and are always looking for opportunities to teach the next generation of conductors and engineers,” he said. “We are all here for the long run and want to ensure the success of VRE for years to come.”

In his free time, Chris is the ultimate family man. He is his eldest daughter’s biggest fan and attends her varsity lacrosse, basketball and field hockey games regularly. He also enjoys taking his youngest daughter for nice strolls in the park.

Keolis is VRE’s contractor that maintains and operates VRE trains.
